

Well-deserved success continues for company

GOLD Coast building company Palladio Homes enjoyed great success at this year's Master Builders Queensland Awards.

The company won the award in the Best Kitchen category for both the regional and state awards.

Founder and chief executive officer of the new company Brad Fullin said the win was extremely rewarding for all of the team at Palladio.

"We demand this type of high quality with all our residential projects, regardless of the contract value," he said.

"Here at Palladio, our motto is the lifestyle choice, and by the winning kitchen at this year's Master Builders Queensland Awards, it's easy to see why."

The company handles contracts from $150,000 to $5 million and has its own in-house drafting division so architecturally designed dream homes can also be created from scratch if that's what the client is looking for.

"Or you might be more suited to our project range of homes and that's fine too, because either way we've got you covered," said Mr Fullin.

This double-storey plan is one example of the latter and is one of two display homes being built by Palladio at the soon to be released Coachwood Park Estate at Upper Coomera.

This home will be completed early next year.

On the first level, the home features an integrated family, dining and kitchen, as well as a separate living room and study.

There is a powder room and laundry on this level.

The second level features four bedrooms with built-in robes and a separate bathroom, toilet and powder room.

There is a TV room for children to relax or play games in.

The large master suite has enough room for a sitting area to be incorporated if needed, and has a walk-in robe and luxurious ensuite.

"At Palladio, we try our utmost to create practical and functional homes," said Mr Fullin.

"From my experience, a lot of homes may look nice, but are terrible to live in.

"In our case we feel we have created both a fully functional home that looks great and is also great to live in and with the addition of our optional outdoor alfresco area, you really have everything covered.

"This is another reason why Palladio is the lifestyle choice."
